❖ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ❖

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.— a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c.

Daily News (London)

A GIANTIC DIRECTORY. — This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer "is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult texts to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully-compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully-compiled Trades Directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and, as it at present stands, it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister island

Northern Whig

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Liverpool Daily Mercury

This practical and exceedingly useful compilation covers the trades of the whole of Ireland. Its revision has been done with the greatest care, and it is likely to meet a continually-increasing number of subscribers.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation, on the whole, is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

❖ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ❖

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a 'Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY. — This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult texts to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of these bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully-compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . . A practical and carefully-compiled Trades Directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and, as it at present stands, it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister island

Northern Whig

. . . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Liverpool Daily Mercury

This practical and exceedingly useful compilation covers the trades of the whole of Ireland. Its revision has been done with the greatest care, and it is likely to meet a continually-increasing number of subscribers.

Derry Journal

. . . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation, on the whole, is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.

BRITISH, COLONIAL, AND FOREIGN MERCANTILE GUIDE.

This Section, added at the solicitation of many of our Subscribers, has been much appreciated, as it forms a most useful GUIDE to BUYERS, and more so in consequence of many leading and influential firms having inserted particulars of their various specialities, under the several classifications or trade headings, rendering it more serviceable than a mere list of names.

This Section is compiled without any pretensions to completeness, it being necessary to make a nominal (but necessary) charge for inserting names, to enable us to continue to issue the work at a popular price, so that its extensive circulation should not be impaired.

OLYDE, one of the largest rivers of Scotland, rising in the south part of Lanarkshire, and forming an arm of the sea, called the Firth of Clyde, near the castle of Dumbarton. It becomes navigable at the city of Glasgow. The first boat in Europe successfully propelled by steam was launched on this river in 1812; and since then the river's shipping and shipbuilding have both grown enormously. Near Lanark the river descends from 560 to 200 feet, forming the celebrated Falls of Clyde, above which flows a beautiful trout stream, passing through a fertile valley amid lovely scenery. The waters become more sluggish and polluted as it nears Glasgow, and large sums of money have been spent in improving and deepening the channel from Glasgow to Dumbarton, with great success. Along the ancient sea-ruarigin of the river is an almost continuous line of watering-places, much frequented during the summer months

EDINBURGH, metropolis of Scotland, seat of the college of justice, or court of session, which is the supreme court of Scotland; of the justiciary, exchequer, and other courts; a university city, royal and parliamentary burgh, the county town of Edinburghshire, and the place of the annual meeting of general assemblies of both the Church of Scotland and the recently united Free Churches; a city of great antiquity, was for many centuries seat of royal administration and the meeting place of parliament. It figured so long and prominent in national events that its history is much connected with the general history of Scotland. Of late years it has undergone costly improvements and progressive extensions, so vast that it would be out of place in these limits to enter into detail. It measures—exclusive of important suburbs—about two miles from east to west, and about 2½ miles from north to south. The public buildings are numerous and attractive, many of them magnificent edifices. Among those of most interest are:—Holyrood Palace; the Castle; Parliament House; the University; the New University Buildings, including the McEwan Hall (1897), gifted by Wm. McEwan, M.P. (citizen); New North Bridge (1897); the Museum of Science and Art; Antiquarian Museum; Phrenological Museum; Heriot's Hospital, completed 1950 at a cost of £30,000; Royal Exchange (1761) £31,000; Bank of Scotland (1806) £75,000; County Buildings (1902) £80,300, since added to; High School (1827) £30,000; Edinburgh Academy (1824) £20,000; Royal College of Surgeons (1833) £20,000; the Orphan Hospital (1833) £16,000; Royal Institution (1836) £40,000; Corn Exchange (1849) £20,000; Donaldson's Hospital (1851) £100,000; British Linen Co.'s Bank (1852) £30,000; Stewart's Hospital (1853) £30,000; Art Galleries (1858) £40,000; General Post Office (1866) £120,000; Sheriff Court Buildings (1868) £44,000; Fettes' College (1870) £150,000; Maternity Hospital (1878) £10,000; the New Royal Infirmary (1879) £380,000; National Portrait Gallery (1889) gifted to the city by John Ritchie Findlay, proprietor of the "Scotsman." Free Library (1890) £50,860 (the gift of Mr A. Carnegie), contains 70,000 vols.; has 45,000 readers in lending department. The chief industries are printing, publishing, and brewing. It has a Royal Lunatic Asylum, Blind Asylum, Deaf and Dumb Institution, &c., Botanic Gardens and Arboretum, several public parks and squares adorned by many monuments, of which the most conspicuous is Sir Walter Scott's, completed in 1844 at a cost of £15,650. The university has obtained at least as high a medical reputation as any in Europe, while the other educational establishments are justly celebrated. It will compare favourably with any city in Great Britain for the number and importance of its benevolent and charitable establishments, and valuable endowments for the maintenance and instruction of the young. It has a variety of scientific and literary institutions. The religious and missionary societies are most prominent. The ecclesiastical buildings are both numerous and handsome, several of which are highly interesting. The Churches are—Established, United Free, Episcopal, Baptist, Congregational, Evangelical Union, Wesleyan, Roman Catholic, Original Secession, Primitive Methodist, Catholic Apostolic, Society of Friends, Unitarian, and a Jewish Synagogue. The general aspect of the county is pleasant, being fertile, highly cultivated, and yielding excellent crops. The Moorfoot and Pentland Hills run through the county, in some places rising to a considerable height. It has several small rivers, such as the Esk, the Almond, and the Water of Leith. The farms of Middlelochan rank among the best in the world, and pasture-land is good, especially in the hilly parts. Among the minerals found are coal, iron, sandstone, and limestone. GLASGOW, the commercial and manufacturing capital of Scotland, and, in aggregate importance, the second city in the empire. Situate on the Clyde, and 47 miles by rail from Edinburg, and 401 miles from London. It is the political capital of Lanarkshire, a royal and parliamentary burgh, a university city, seat of judiciary and sheriff courts, and a head port. Originated from the cathedral founded about A.D. 560; was made a royal burgh in 1180; and was but a small burgh of limited extent in 1550. Its great and continued prosperity—entirely the result of enterprise and skill in manufacturers and commerce—only dates from last century. Its present vast predominance testifies to the vitality and energy of its citizens. In the fifty years between 1831 and 1881 it considerably more than trebled its population, and now, including suburbs, measures 6 miles by 4½, and is of such magnitude that space will not admit here of even a meagre description. The public buildings are both numerous and handsome, and include many very interesting and noble structures. The Cathedral, the University, the Merchants' House, the General Post Office, and the Royal Exchange, may be mentioned. The Municipal buildings recently erected cost about £500,000, including £165,000 paid for the site. The charitable institutions are many, the most important being the Royal Infirmary, Western Infirmary, Fever Hospitals, Small-pox Hospital, Maternity Hospital, Asylum for the Blind, Deaf and Dumb Institute, Lunatic Asylum, &c. It has various scientific and literary institutions, including a museum and two public libraries, also a Royal Botanic Garden, several public parks and many monuments—no fewer than 11 standing in George Square. The Churches are Established, United Free, Episcopal, Baptist, Evangelical Union, Congregational, Wesleyan, Roman Catholic, Catholic Apostolic, Methodist, Christadelphian, Original Secession, Unitarian, Plymouth Brethren, Society of Friends, Christian Brethren, and a Jewish Synagogue.—The harbour shared in the prosperity of the city, and by extensions from time to time, necessitated by increasing trade, acquired its present greatness at a cost of over £11,000,000. In 1801 the quays of the harbour was only 382 yards in length, the water area 4 acres; the revenue from the harbour and river £3400. In 1900 the length of the quays was eight miles, the water area 205½ acres, and the revenue £430,000. For about 2½ miles from Glasgow Bridge the river presents the appearance of an immense dock, and is deep enough for the largest sea-going ships. The harbour possesses all the appliances of a first-class port, and is connected with the whole railway system of the kingdom. The imports (1900) were valued at £12,788,374, and the exports at £13,599,864, which is only exceeded by Liverpool. Pop. 760,468

HEBRIDES, THE, as now understood, includes all the Western Islands from the Mull of Kintyre to Cape Wrath, consisting of a series of groups of islands and rocky islets extending 205 miles—from the Butt of Lewis to the Mull of Oua, in Islay—along the weird, wild, and romantic coast of the West Highlands. The distance of the various islands from the mainland varies from less than ½ a mile at Kyle Rhea, south-east of Skye, to over 100 miles to lone St Kilda, and from 1½ miles at Gigha to 21 at the south of Islay. The entire number of these islands and islets exceeds 500, but only about 180 are of any value. Of these, 99 were inhabited in 1901, and had a population of 79,159. Lewis and Harris, Skye, Mull, Islay, Jura, and North and South Uists are the principal islands. These are very much diversified as regards scenery—that of Skye and other islands of the Inner Hebrides being the grandest scenery perhaps in Scotland; the scenery of Lewis and other islands of the Outer Hebrides is less picturesque, but a peculiar feature of these is the immense number of fresh water lochs scattered everywhere, and yielding some of the best salmon and trout fishing in Scotland. Most of the islands are extensively intersected by inlets and arms of the sea, affording safe and sheltered anchorage. The Lords of the Isles and the Insular Chiefs of the various turbulent clans have left numerous monuments of their ambition and their rule, in the form of towers and castles; and the remains of the religious establishments testify to the Christian zeal and piety of former generations.

INVERNESS-SHIRE is the largest county in Scotland, stretching from sea to sea; it is bounded on the north by Ross-shire and part of the Moray Firth, east by the counties of Nairn, Moray, and Aberdeen, and south by those of Perth and Argyle, and west by the Atlantic Ocean. A small district between the counties of Banff and Moray, is annexed, and several of the Hebrides—Skye, Harris, North and South Uist, Benbecula, Barra, Raasay, Eigg, St Kilda, and others. The mainland portion is divided into two almost equal parts by the Great Glen and the Caledonian Canal, the northern extremity of this glen opens by the river Ness into the Moray Firth, and flowing in a south-westerly direction encloses Lochs Ness, Oich, Lochy, and Eil, whence it extends into the Atlantic Ocean by Loch Linnhe. In the northern part is Strath Glass, with its tributaries running into the Firth of Beaulie. The county is noted for its unsurpassed romantic scenery; its glens and mountains. It contains Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Britain, which attains a height of 4406 feet, and several other ranges which present some of the finest mountain scenery in the world. It is well watered, the principal rivers being the Ness, the Lochy, the Beaulie, and the Spey. The Caledonian Canal connects the east and west seas from Loch Eil on the west to the Moray Firth on the east coast. The west coast is indented by numerous salt-water lochs. There are extensive grouse moors and deer forests, game being very plentiful; the rivers abound with salmon, and in the lochs the char is found in great perfection. Only a small portion of the land is cultivated, the greater part being moor and heathy ground; black sheep are reared in large numbers, also cattle. Oats are the principal crop; and wheat is also grown in the neighbourhood of the Moray Firth. Limestone is found in large quantities. Inverness-shire returns one member to Parliament. STIRLINGSHIRE, a county, bounded north by the counties of Perth and Clackmannan, on the east by the Firth of Forth and Linlithgowshire, and on the south and west by the counties of Lanark and Dumbarton. The county is diversified by mountains, hills, plains, woods, and plantations. A broad plain stretches from the water of Avon towards the north-west, and is terminated by the Grampian Hills and Ben Lomond. It is intersected by the Forth, and includes the vales of Stirling and Falkirk, which produce excellent crops. The central and southern districts are partly mountainous, and partly level and fertile, the former being, for the most part, occupied by the Campsie Hills. The principal rivers are the Forth, the Carron, the Bannockburn, the Endrick, the Blane, and the Kelvin. Loch Lomond is on the west borders of the county, and a navigable canal, which connects the Firth of Forth with the Clyde is partly in Stirlingshire. SUTHERLANDSHIRE, a county, extending across the whole breadth of Scotland, from the North Sea to the Atlantic Ocean. It is bounded on the west by the Minch, north by the Northern Ocean, east by the county of Caithness, south-east by the Dornoch Firth, and south by the Oickle and several smaller streams, which separates it from the county of Ross and Cromarty. The surface of the county is rugged and mountainous, except on the south-east shore. The eastern district, near the German Ocean, consists of a strip of level land which runs along the coast side; the middle or central district, resembles the other parts of the Highlands of Scotland, it contains the valleys of the rivers of Helmsdale, Brora, Fleet, and Oickle, with their tributary streams issuing from the neighbouring mountains. The shores bordering the Atlantic are wild, rocky, and mountainous. The Assynt Mountains are huge and barren, but the glens between afford excellent pasture for sheep. On the coasts of the numerous bays many tracts of land have been brought under cultivation, but the climate, from the constant rain and mists, is unfavourable to the growth of crops. The principal rivers are the Oickal, which enters the Firth of Dornoch; and is navigable for about 12 miles from its mouth, the Water of Fleet, the Water of Brora, the Water of Helmsdale, the Water of Halldale, the Water of Strathly, the Naver, the Waters of Keiloch, Hope, Dionard, and Erihol. There are also lakes, the chief being Loch Assynt, Loch Elphin, Loch Leigheal, Loch More, and Loch Shin, the last of which stretches 20 miles north-west to south-east, is about one mile broad and abounds with salmon and trout. There are extensive deer forests, and abundance of all kinds of game. The Duke of Sutherland is the largest landowner. The minerals include rock crystals, pebbles, and garnets. WIGTOWNSHIRE, a county, bounded on the east by Kirkcudbrightshire, south and west by the Irish Sea, and north by Ayrshire. The county is irregular and deeply indented by Loch Ryan and Luce Bay, which forms the Rhinns of Galloway (q.v.) The richest lands lie near the coast and on the banks of the rivers. The rising grounds in the east through the parish of Wigtown and the lower parts of Penningham are for the most part fit for tillage. The peninsula, called the Rhinns, is also good arable land. The hills in this part of the county rise to a considerable height, and act as a barrier against the westerly winds. The north districts called the Moors are bleak and hilly; they occupy nearly one-half of the county, and contain only a few patches of arable land. The principal rivers are the Cree, the Bladenock, the Tarff, the Luce, and others. The climate is mild and humid. The chief crops are oats and barley, also wheat, potatoes, and turnips. THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham	Cardiff	Leeds	Newcastle-on-Tyne	Portsmouth	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	Leicester	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	Liverpool and	Norwich	Reading	Sunderland
Bradford	Gateshead	Birkenhead	Nottingham	Rochdale	Swansea
Brighton	Halifax	Manchester and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
Bristol	Huddersfield	Salford	Plymouth and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	Hull	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	Sheffield	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

MACDONALD'S English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. Since 1899 the work has appeared in two volumes, and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES' DIRECTORY.—One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades' directory. Such is provided by Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., who have just issued a new and considerably enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazetteer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of some 5000 cities, towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen, that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could be. As regards its accuracy, it need only be said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Commercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. The work is a marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multitude of specialist producers and distributors.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.—This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a 'Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

Manchester Courier

It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Birmingham Daily Gazette

As the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Hitherto they have been compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant customers, and the want of a comprehensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weighty volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, space, and money.

Birmingham Daily Mail

Contains a carefully compiled list of merchants and manufacturers, as well as other information of great value to business men.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions, trades, and businesses in upwards of five thousand towns and cities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price must be considered very cheap.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guide to the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Weekly Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide it must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of business, their "Irish" Directory being in its fifteenth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its twentieth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. It presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

➡ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ⬅

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. . . . and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY. — This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Liverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully-compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and these give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully-compiled Trades Directory for the whole of Ireland. . . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and, as it at present stands, it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister island

Northern Whig

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Liverpool Daily Mercury

This practical and exceedingly useful compilation covers the trades of the whole of Ireland. Its revision has been done with the greatest care, and it is likely to meet a continually-increasing number of subscribers.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation, on the whole, is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

MARK.

*Original Inventors ofR. J. FULLWOOD & BLAND'S

HIGHLY CELEBRATED FLUID

EXTRACT OF ANNATTO,

FOR

COLOURING CHEESE AND BUTTER.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—The superiority of this truly excellent, pure, unadulterated Annatto consists in its producing in Cheese and Butter that rich, permanent, bright, GOLDEN COW-SLIP TINT so much desired by all Cheese and Butter Factors, and so universally approved in the London and other great markets.

Messrs R. J. FULLWOOD & BLAND's fluid Extract of Annatto now stands unrivalled all over the World. It is purely vegetable, can always be relied upon, uniform in strength and quality, and cheaper than any other article. To protect the consumers from fraud Messrs R. J. Fullwood & Bland stamp all their preparations with their Trade Mark as above—"A Stag with an Olive Branch."

Sold in Bottles: Imperial Measure, Half-Gallons, 10s.; Quarts, 5s.; Pints, 2s. 9d.; Half-Pints, 1s. 9d.; Quarter-Pints, 1s.; One-Eighth Pints, 6d.

This Butter Colouring is Purely Vegetable, and gives a rich, clear straw colour to the Butter, exactly resembling the natural tint. It does not colour the Buttermilk, or impart any taste or smell to the Butter, and is used for Butter only, not being suitable for Cheese colouring.

THIS Splendid Family and Commercial Hotel is now Open for Visitors, and has been erected to succeed the above Old-Established Hotel—where space was too limited for requirements. It is Built and Furnished throughout on the most modern principles—regardless of expense—to promote the comfort and suit the convenience of its patrons.

It occupies a very central position, adjacent to the General Post Office, and in the immediate vicinity of the Cross-Channel Steamers, so that Visitors coming direct to Londonderry by Steamer from England or Scotland will disembark close to the Hotel.

Londonderry is within easy distance of Loch Swilly, the Donegal Highlands, and of all the pleasure resorts for which Donegal is famous.

The business of the New Northern (same as that of the old Hotel) is under the personal supervision of the proprietrix, which will ensure a continuance of the careful attention which she has always cheerfully given to her numerous patrons.
